Logic Seminars in Poland

Source list and instructions for checking the schedules

Prepared for Grigor Sargsyan. Checked 4 November 2026. This file contains the links used for 24 seminar records across nine cities. It is a reference for future checks, not a live calendar.

Website: https://grigorsarg.github.io/logic-seminars-poland/

Instructions for the next check

1. Read this file first. Open the direct seminar links below and check the current academic year, latest announcements, weekday, start time, venue, online access and frequency.
2. Use the programme or organiser's announcement when it is more recent than an institute-wide timetable. Do not infer a weekly meeting from one dated talk. Record fortnightly, monthly and irregular meetings explicitly.
3. Keep the directory organised Monday to Friday, with times in Europe/Warsaw. Put unknown or conflicting schedules in the section for confirmation. Keep teaching seminars separate from research series.
4. Read the schedule and latest announcements first. Do not download full talk archives or repeat broad searches when these direct pages answer the question. Search more widely when a link has moved, a series is missing, or a supplementary directory lists something new.
5. Retain the official URL, check date and a brief reason for each schedule status. A recently crawled page can still contain an old timetable. Never present an archive as a current appointment.
6. Avoid duplicate series. UW's older "Logika i teoria typów" listing and the current Friday Semantics, Logic and Verification listing share one seminar homepage.
7. For an authorised website update, edit the existing GitHub Pages site. The seminar data is in _data/logic_seminars.yml. Follow AGENTS.md and WEBSITE_MAINTENANCE.md, pass the existing build, publish, and verify the live page. Update this PDF when the source list changes.
8. Preserve this invitation at the top of the page: "If your seminar does not appear here, please email me at gsargsyan@impan.pl with a link to its webpage." Report unresolved schedules rather than guessing.

Coverage note

The search covered mathematics, computer science and philosophy in Warsaw, Wrocław, Kraków, Łódź and Gdańsk, and checked additional centres in Poznań, Toruń, Kielce, Katowice, Lublin, Opole, Rzeszów and Białystok. No current dedicated public logic research timetable was located for some institutions. This does not establish that no seminar exists there. Follow the linked institutional directories when extending the list.
